Are these your own servers? Currently there is a known issue where a server is reported twice if Doomsday finds it both via LAN discovery and from the Master Server.

Yes actually they are, although at the moment I don't have them running ~ just put a new hdd in the server. ;)

But yeah, it's strange though because the servers when they show double, it's an intermitted issue, they show double then they don't then they do, etc. However, I never saw it do this in the previous builds, which is the only reason I made this report.
